Cowtown Coliseum Accommodations and Amenities

The Facility

The Cowtown Coliseum was constructed in 1908, and was the first indoor coliseum in the United States. It was the original home of the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and the World's first Indoor Rodeo.

The building was totally refurbished and brought up to modern day standards in 1986, including heat, air conditioning, production, lighting and sound.

After 90 years of shows ranging from rodeos to concerts, including Elvis Presley and many more famous crowd pleasers, the Cowtown Coliseum is still going strong.
